

December 11, 2012

To Whom It May Concern:

It gives me great pleasure to write a letter of recommendation for Aaron Allen. Aaron attended class at the Minnesota School of Business where I had the satisfaction of delivering academic content to aid in Aaron's pursuit of excellence.

Professionally, Aaron conducted himself in a manner that many students strive to obtain. Aaron led thoughtful discussions and presented engaging topics. Aaron challenged the material while using his education to back up his points of view. Aaron is the type of student that makes teaching fun and challenging as he did not miss class and prepared diligently for the learning objectives.

Aaron excelled in one of the toughest classes Minnesota School of Business offers. Aaron used his diplomatic skills to help other students be successful by suggesting alternatives for the class schedule. As an instructor, I practice ownership of the classroom by students who emerge as clear leaders to offer additions to course content. Aaron was granted the freedom to offer suggestions and take on a leadership role to help struggling students to perform. Aaron has exceptional leadership qualities and given the chance, he will make a fine addition to an employer.

Students like Aaron are rare and I appreciated every moment with Aaron. My hope is that Aaron will earn an opportunity to prove himself to an employer, as there is no doubt he will perform to a high standard. I invite you to contact me in the event that I can provide you with additional information.

Sincerely,

Tim Trocke

Business and Criminal Justice Instructor

Investigator State of Minnesota

763 235 4021

tim.trocke@pubdef.state.mn.us